Venture capitalists invest in innovations that improve the way we work, play and live. Changing the world is constantly on the minds of VCs and the entrepreneurs in whom they invest. Speakers this year at VentureScape share that world-changing vision and we look forward to hearing their stories and their insights at VentureScape 2013. Culled from callings as diverse as government and genetics, this year's speakers are certain to enlighten and inspire us in our own efforts to make a difference.

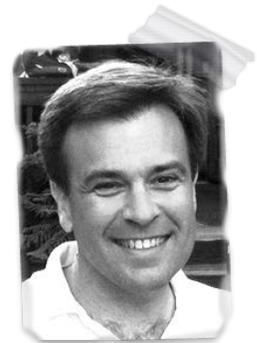

2013 Agenda Highlights:

Tuesday, May 14, 2013 - Emerging Managers Deep Dive: "Flirting" with Cindy Crawford: Why Your Pickup Lines Won't Work on LP's

Chris Douvos, Venture Investment Associates

Wednesday, May 15, 2013 - Speakers Corner: LP Rants and Raves

In this groundbreaking session, the venture industry will have the opportunity to hear from some of the LP community's most thoughtful investors including UTIMCO's Lindel Eakman, Morgan Stanley's Jamey Sperans, Chris Douvos from Venture Investment Associates, and Bon French from Adams Street Partners, each who will have five minutes to tell us what compels and repels them about the venture capital asset class.

Chris Douvos, Venture Investment Associates

Managing Director, joined VIA in 2011 and is a member of the Firm's Investment Committee and has responsibility across all facets of the firm, including the management of relationships with the funds' managers and its limited partners, as well as, the identification and development of new relationships for the firm.

He previously spent seven years co-heading the private equity program at The Investment Fund For Foundations (TIFF). In this role, he was responsible for over $1 billion in new capital commitments and stewarded a program that was ranked in the top 5% of its peers. Chris represented TIFF on over a dozen VC and LBO partnership advisory boards. Prior to joining TIFF, Mr. Douvos worked on Princeton University's endowment team, where his duties included selection and evaluation of external managers, risk analysis, and asset allocation modeling. Previously, he was a strategy consultant at Monitor Company working with clients in the financial services, healthcare, and telecom sectors and as an analyst for Monitor's principal investing activities.

Mr. Douvos authors an acclaimed blog, www.SuperLP.com, that explores topics in investing and human nature. He has been profiled in Venture Capital Journal and Private Equity Analyst and regularly speaks at industry conferences and business schools. Chris earned his BA with Distinction in history from Yale College in 1994 and an MBA from Yale School of Management in 2001. He was awarded the CFA Charter in 2004. He currently serves on the Board of the Palo Alto Community Fund and sits on the investment committee of the Castilleja School.
