In the September issue of VJC, Chris Douvos, a managing director here at VIA was quoted in the monthly cover story, “LPs Warm Up to Venture”. LP fundraising in venture capital is up and Chris opines that investors are seeking growth opportunities and high return potential so they are back in the venture market. However, the torrid pace of fundraising in 2014 can be attributed to supply and demand, he asserts. At present, there are many well-known funds in the market, but he anticipates fundraising will level out next year, as the number of top-tier groups in search of fresh capital moderates in 2015.
